What is a Wireframe?

A wireframe is a blue print that defines a web page's content and functionality. It does not convey design - e.g. colors, graphics, or fonts. Every wireframe has been assigned a numerical ID that matches the ID structure listed on the sitemap.

What is a Sitemap?

Throughout the design process a sitemap is used to visually represent the hierarchical and, to a limited extent, the navigational structure of your website (acting like a Table of Contents). It lists and provides numerical IDs for all web pages within your site.

What is a User Flow?

A User Flow (aka User Interface - flow diagram) displays basic interactions that users have with your website showing you the “journey” users will make through the site. A user flow is NOT a Data Flow Diagram (DFD) because it omits the technical and back-end functionality details.

How It Works

For Parents

By creating an online network of friends and sitters, SitterScout can quickly increase your babysitting options.

- You create a SitterScout Profile
- You add friends and sitters you know and trust who are already on SitterScout to your network - or invite new ones to join
- You tell SitterScout when you need a babysitter and which sitters you'd like to request
- SitterScout sends an email and a text message to the chosen sitters and lets you know when they respond - we'll even send a reminder to you and your sitter 48 hours before the scheduled job

When you invite new friends to join, you'll see which sitters they are using and as a result expand your list of available sitters. Unlike most online sitter services there are no strangers here – SitterScout is all about connecting you with new sitters through a network of friends and neighbors you trust.

Join the SitterScout community!

For Sitters

Use your SitterScout network to connect with families who are looking for great sitters. They request your services through SitterScout and we contact you. You can let the families you babysit for know when you are available – even on short notice. You'd be surprised at how many parents might like a spur-of-the-moment night out.

- Tell us about yourself - your age and your skills
- Add the families you babysit for who are already on SitterScout to your network - or invite new ones to join
- Connect with those families and the friends of those families
- Whenever a family from your network needs a sitter, they make a request and we contact you

Control how you want to be contacted for babysitting jobs, so you never miss out on an opportunity. SitterScout sends job requests to you via text message or e-mail and makes it easy for you to reply. For texting, simply respond with Y for yes (to accept the job) or N for no (to decline) and we will notify the family with your response. To reply by e-mail, just click on the embedded links. You tell us how you want to be reached and we'll take care of the rest.

Where parents and sitters connect

About Us

SitterScout is an online community that makes it easy for parents and their babysitters to connect with each other.

You don't call around to book an airline flight, why call around to book your babysitter? Let SitterScout do the work for you with just the click of a mouse. There's no more waiting for a sitter to call you back.

Expand your babysitting options

Parents use SitterScout to expand their babysitting options by connecting with their friends and their friends' friends. You can see which babysitters your friends are using, contact your friends for recommendations and start growing your Sitter List, which means more options when you need them.

We're ending the game of "babysitter phone tag"

Once you create a list of sitters, we make it easy for you to book them. Just tell us when you need a babysitter and who you'd like to contact. We do all the work and we'll let you know when we've confirmed a sitter for you. To see the status of your request, visit your dashboard any time.

More opportunities for babysitters

Babysitters use SitterScout so they'll never miss out on a babysitting opportunity. They build their networks of families to increase their number of job offers. Sitters also determine how they want to be contacted for jobs and SitterScout makes it easy to reply.

You control your privacy

SitterScout is concerned about the privacy of our community members. Only your confirmed friends can view your full profile information. You determine whether your profile will be searchable and who can view your list of connections. You can edit your profile information at any time to change your privacy settings.

About the company

SitterScout was created by a mom with a single mission in mind: make it a lot easier to find and book reliable babysitters. SitterScout is a privately-held company headquartered in the Seattle, Washington area.

Frequently Asked Questions

What does it cost?

SitterScout is currently a free service and we will be working hard to keep it that way. The larger our community grows, the better the chance we can remain ad-funded and free to our members. If you like using SitterScout, let your friends and neighbors know. (link to invite friends)

Do you screen the babysitters on SitterScout?

No. SitterScout is a community where you can meet new babysitters through the friends and neighbors you trust. We recommend exploring your network of friends to see what sitters they use and who each sitter is connected to. Then ask for personal referrals from those families who use the sitter. Ask lots of questions about the babysitters your friends are using: Are they reliable? On time? Trustworthy? Anything else you should know?

We recommend that our babysitters ask questions about the families they will be babysitting for, as well.

Why can't I find babysitters in my area?

SitterScout is a new, growing community and we may not have a lot of members in your area. We will grow quickly if our members invite their friends, neighbors and babysitters to join. The more members, the better the odds you'll be able to find a babysitter when you need one!

What if I want to keep my connection to a sitter private?

If you've got a sitter that you just can't share, you can check the "Hide Sitter" next to their name in "Your Sitters" list on the dashboard. Once you check this box, your sitter will not appear in your list of Connections.
